

My Final Reason FOR YOU TO BAN your kids from Video games is because it can make them want to do the bad things in video games. If they play a video game where you still get to earn pts, then they might think its OK to do that. Also if they die or do die on the game and nothing happens they probly think they can do that and nothing will happen. There they might die. I think none of you parents want you kids to die.

Some peop say its fine because you can block the language and bad stuff but they are wrong ANY kid over the age of 4 can unblock it when your head is turned. Also people say it helps with hand eye cordination but to me it makes you unhealthy. Also, some people say it can teach life lessons but I say its stealing cars for pts really a life lesson.

OK so you get where im going with video games right? they are bad for your brain and body. ALSO your wasting your life. ALSO it teaches you very bad things. WHY play on a virtual world rather than a real world?
