

I think violent video games are a bad thing. Most violent video games have guns and shooting. I don't think people should see these things. A lot of the games also have fighting on them. I personally do not play those kind of games. One of the really bad violent video games is Grand Theft Auto. As a player on that game you steal cars. It has a lot of bad things for the player to do. I think people that play these kinds of games can learn to act the same way if they spend too much time playing the games.
