

Are Video Games Good or Bad?

Just about every boy plays these. This is all they do. If you don't know what I'm talking about they are violent video games. Most boys think that they are really good for them to play these but are they really? From being a pure addict, inappropriate content, or just plain unhealthy for you. Do they really sound good for kids to be playing?

One reason they are bad for you are addiction. Studies show that 4 times as many boys play than girls. Being an addict is very bad because you can become obese if you sit around playing video games all day and eating. It can also make your eyes go bad if all you do is look at the screen all day. It may even make you anti-social because you aren't used to talking to people.

Another reason they are bad for you is inappropriate content. Now would you really want your kids to play games like Grand Theft Auto where all they do is run from the law, drink, and go into strip clubs. That stuff can ruin their minds and make them do that stuff when they get older. Would you really want your boy when he gets older to be drinking, cursing, and running from the law? I know I wouldn't want my kid to and I don't think that you would want them too either.
